A McLEOD MOVEMENT.

It is Said That He is Being Pressed to Re sume the Reading's Presidency. PHILADELPHIA. April 5.-It is reported in financial circles this afternoon that great pressure is being brought' to bear upon President McLeod to withdraw his resignation and continue in control of the operating department of the Reading railroad. Mr. McLeod has, it is understood, the matter under advisement. The Financial News reporting agency authority for the statement that it is belie Mr. McLeod's retirement from the Reading will have a serious effect upon the anthracite coal trade. His personal influence, it is fur-ther stated, in connection with the coal industry is confessedly large, and it is within bounds to say that he has for a considerable length of time dominated that trade. His policy, it is also said, has been such as to increase the profits to both miners and dealers, and these classes regard his retirement as a signal for lack of cohesion among all concerned in mainaining prices at a uniform level.

MB. PLATT SURPRISED. New York, April 5 .- Ex-Senator Thomas C Platt, upon whose application a receivership was provided for the Philadelphia and Reading road, said today:

"The resignation of Mr. McLeod as president of the seading was as great a surprise to me as to anybody. The reason for his retirement I believe to be as stated by him in his letter to the board of managers of the company. Mr. McLeod's treatment is unde-served. His financial measures have been devised at the best motives and wholly in the in terest of the Reading. As a practical railroad man his ability cannot be questioned. I sup-pose he will now give his entire time to the af-fairs of the Boston and Maine and the New fairs of the Boston and Maine and the New York and New England roads, of which he is WHY M'LEOD WAS REMOVED.

J. Edward Simmons, the chairman of the committee of general mortage bondholders of thing or has the Reading, said: "The retirement of McLeod was brought about by action of the bondholders. It is object accomplished for which the shall find out the exact financial condition of the company. We concede that some receivers certificates must be issued, but we insist on prices at a uniform level."

pecial Dispatch to The Evening Star. Boston, April 5 .- There will be a three-co nered fight for Senator Lodge's congressions seat if the friends of Mayor Haves of Lynn can induce him to accept a bolting nomination Both the republican and the democratic seventh congressional district conventions were held resterday. The former at Charlestown and the yesterday. The former at Charlestown and the latter at Meirose, the republicans nominated Speaker W. E. Barrett after a six-hour contest, but fifty of the 109 delegates withdrew and nominated Mayor Elihu B. Hayes of Lynn.

The democrats also had a contest that lasted from 7 o'clock until after midnight, but they nominated Dr. William Everett of Quincy and broke up in good humor. Dr. Everett's chief opponents were ex-District Attornay Henry F. opponents were ex-District Attorney Henry F. Huriburt of Lynn and Philip J. Doherty of

On the first ballot Everett received 74 votes, Hurlburt, 49: Doherty, 40.
Dr. Everett never lost his lead and the least votes he received was sixty-eight. He was nominated on the tenth ballot by the following vote: Whole number of votes cast 171, necessary for a choice 86, Everett had 89, Doherty 63, Hurlburt 8 and scattering 11. The cause of the republican schism grew out respecting the seven delegates from ward 4, Charlestown. It was allowed that the caucus at which the Barrett delegates were chosen was not conducted in accordance with the rules of the Australian ballot law, under which it was

When the committee reported in favor of the sitting delegates the Hayes delegates claimed that the seven delegates whose seats were at stake had no right to vote.

The chair ruled that they had, and quoted parliamentary authority to that effect.

To have refused their votes would have left only fifty Earrett supporters to fifty-two friends of Mr. Hayes, thus giving the latter control of the convention and the privilege of unseating the seven delegates from ward 4. When the chair decided that these delegates might vote an appeal was taken, but the chair The Haves men withdrew to another hall in the same building and nominated their candi-date after a brief discussion of its advisability. They left the responsibility of accepting with Mr. Haves. He says on the subject: "I feel very sure that the gentlemen who supported me would not have taken the action reported without very good cause. I therefore desire to consult with hem before taking any position."

It is the opinion among politicians here that he will appear before the ballot commissioners and file a strong protest against the acceptance of the report of the regular convention, and that subsequently his followers will present the easons why, in their opinion, the action of the octers is the legal nomination.

Speaker Barrett, in accepting the nomina-tion, said, after announcing his intention to keep the district where it had stood for the past eight years: "I do not know, gentlemen what the history of this convention is, except as it has reached me in a desultory way, but I am free to say, however, from positive knowledge that no man supporting my name in this contest has said any-thing or has done anything to prothing or has done anything to pro-mote dissatisfaction or republican friction. While I cannot undertake to read the feelings of men I do undertake to say that when the remoderation and good feeling shown by you is of the seventh district, a great shout will go up telling that they propose to stand by the work of a convention which has been fairly and honestly conducted. Let them pass the verdict whether they propose to be represented by a republican or a democrat."

The democrats are in high feather and say can breach will be a wide one, whether Hayes onsents to run or not. Senator Lodge has an opportunity to exercise all his tact if he hopes to keep his district in the REPUBLICANS CHEER LEE'S AME The Unusual Spectacle Witnessed at a Dinner in New York.

New York, April 5.—The unusual spectacle of 150 stalwart republicans rising in their seats and wildly cheering the name of Gen. Robert E. Lee was an incident at the dinner of the West Side Republican Club held at the Hotel Endicott last night which will not soon be forgotten by those who were present. Col. John S. Wise, one of the speakers, created a sensation by the courage and eloquence displayed by him in defining his position and the reasons that impelled him to be

ears Col. Wise arose and not only made a brilhant speech, but in less than five minutes he had this republican audience wildly cheering for his old commander, Gen. Robert E. Lee. Col. Wise at the outset mildly deprecated the tendency of republicans to live in the glories of the past rather than facing the issues of the present and setting their minds upon the glor-ious promise which the future held out to the republican party. He said that until the matter was settled by the great struggle between the opposing armies struggle between the opposing armies in the late war the question of whether a citizen's primary allegiance was due to the federal government or his state was an open one. Even so learned a man and so great an ostle of the federal system as Alexander Hamilton was unable to answer this momentous question. It was never definitely settled to whom that allegiance was due until it was ecided by the god of battles.
Col. Wise paid a high tribute to the integrity and lofty principles of Gen. Lee, under whom he served, and declared that no man ever went what he thought to be his duty.

The speaker, who was at the time a cadet in the Virgininia military school—the West Point of the confederacy—was called with a class of 300 young boys to take his place in the field. He went and fought for his state, to which he honestly believed his allegiance was due. When the war ended he accepted its issues and in-fluenced by the words of Gen. Lee he became a member of the party whose principles had triumphed.

Col. Wise repeated Gen. Lee's words, in which he told his former comrades in arms that might think, one thing that whatever else they might think, one thing was settled, and that was that the first duty of an American citizen was the allegiance he owed to the old flag and the federal government.

ALL QUIET AT TOLEDO. Engineers Disposed to Accept the De of Judges Taft and Ricks.

Tolano, April 5 .- Matters are quiet on the various ratiroads. General Manager Blair of the Wheeling and Lake Erie road, which controls the Wheeling belt connecting the roads entering the city and is virtually the key to the situation, says that their engineers are very weil satisfied with the result. It takes a great load of responsibility off their minds, and they all say that they will attend to work and obey the orders of the court.

The Ann Arbor officials have sent the following letter to the general manager of connecting roads: Judges Taft and Ricks have handed down epinions in the Arthur injunction and Lake Shore contempt cases. The history of these hoods is an excellent illustration of the rehoods is an excellent illustration of the re-lation between railroad companies and federated labor in their employ. The means em-ployed by these men to secure their object and their testimony in their own defense are discreditable to the organiza-tion and individuals. It seems an op-portune occasion to enlighten the public mind on the relations between railroad manage-ment and union employes. The facts in this difference can be made to do good service to this end. Our notion is that the subject should be ventilated through the press and the best be ventilated through the press and the best magazines of the country—both from a legal and social point of view."

The Ann Arbor then asks that the various roads contribute toward a fund to defray the expense of keeping the different phases of the controversy before the public for LAUREL LEAVES FOR HARRISON.

Results of the Election in Chicago Yester-CHICAGO, April 5.-Today's returns from the city election were all laurel leaves for Carter Harrison. The figures, which are now practically complete, do not give the slightest ray of hope to his opponents. Beyond all doubt he is chosen world's fair mayor of Chicago.

Mr. Harrison says that he will falsify the pre-dictions of his enemies, adding: "I will show them that in my administration of civic af-fairs I can be guided by the best interests of the public, and that other considerations will have no influence with me. My first and best efforts will be for the general good of city."
The latest computation of Harrison's plurality over Allerton, the citizens' and republi can candidate, is 18,471.

It is not likely that this result will be ma terially altered. Harrison led his ticket, but the other leading democratic candidates are all elected by sub stantial majorities. The new city council is republican and is pointed to as indicating that the "working" republicans were lukewarm in in Hampton Roads, and we asked more in fun than in disappointment, if this was a mere oversight or real green-syed jealousy. We have received from Becretary John L. Degge of the regular committee at Norfolk a politic letter, in which he says:

"An article in your paper of yesterday does us an injustice, which I feel sure you will hasten to correct. We have not invited any fiest to Hampton Roads, so far, but have a list which will be sent out Wednesday and Maryland's fleet is second on the list. We are not jealous of any city in the Union, knowing that our incomparable harbor and push of our business men generally cannot suffer by comparison with any body or place. We expect you to arge your fleet to accept the invitation."

We shall certainly do so. It is true that the ships of the other fleets cost in the aggregate about $150,000,000, and that Maryland's fleet did not cost more than $15,000,000, but we fine lot of enterprise, and that it is a cable stopping place on the way to Be Success to all its efforts.

IN WALL STREET TODAY.

New York, April 5.- Feeding opened active and excited. The stock was in better demand than of late and rose to 24%. At the close yesterday the stock sold at 2314. The bonds were also higher, the 4's rising 1/4 to 74 and the 3d preferences one to 25. It will be seen from this that at the stock exchange McLed's resignation as president and receiver of the Reading was accepted as a bull argument. The general stock market was irregular. AT THE WHITE HOUSE, Reading Stock Goes Up on the Strength of Those Who Saw the President About Offices

Today. JUDGE LOCKER OF MINNESOTA BELIEVED TO HAVE BEEN SELECTED AS COMMISSIONER OF PENSIONS - A VIRGINIA ROUND-UP -- THOSE WHO DESIRE POSITIONS FROM OTHER STATES.

It is thought that the President will select of commissioner of pensions within the next forty-eight hours. The man who now appears to be in the lead ahead of all candidates is one who has at no time been a candidate-Judge William Lochren of Minnesota. If he is an pointed it will be a clear case of the office seeking the man, although this statement may require an affidavit to establish its verity in the minds of some people who daily infest the White House.

Judge Lochren is now in the city, having come here by request, and was escorted to the White House this morning by Mr. Michael Doran, national committeeman from Minnesots Judge Lochren will have an interview with the resident this afternoon. Senator Washburn of Minnesota, who was among the President's callers this morning, took occasion to highly recommend Judge Lochren and told the President that if Judge Lochren is appointed his administration of the pension bureau will demonstrate the wisdom of the selection.

SENATOR PALMER IN OPPOSITION.

Mr. Palmer (Ill.), another member of the committee on privileges and elections, argued against the majority report, and replied to some of Mr. Chandler's propositions. He re-called the impressive reading (by Senator Man-derson) of Washington's farewell address on Constitution what had been said today by the Senator fro New Hampshire. That Senator admitted that for many years after the formation of the Constitu tion the construction for which he (Mr. Paimer contended was the received construction, but construction of the Constitution; but he their wiser son-had found another method better than theirs. The Senator's discovery reminded him of a Calvinistic preacher, who, on a certution and their contemporaries. Liberality dis-tinguished the Senator from New Hamp shire and those who thought with him. For Limself (Mr. Falmer) he preferred to be reputed as illiberal with those preferred to be reputed as illiberal with those who won the independence of the country and who framed its admirable system of government, rather than to follow the new light preached by the distinguished Senator from New Hampshire. He had been referred to by the Senator as desiring to alter the Constitution in order to give the election of Senators to the people of the United States. He did so desire. But he desired to have the Constitution altered by formal provision; to have it changed deliberately and solemnly. No inconsistency could be predicated or charged, because while the Constitution existed he favored adhering to it rigidly. And it would favored adhering to it rigidly. And it would be found that the most dangerous class of politicians in the country were those who believed and taught that the framework of government (the Constitution) was to be modi-fied, not by formal action in one of the methods prescribed by the Constitution, but was to be altered by construction so as to meet changed conditions, real or imaginary. He (Mr. Pai-mer) asked to stand by the Constitution as it He had no right to be liberal in construing an instrument which he had sworn to Neither his judgment nor his conscience would allow him to follow the Senator from New Hampshire in the path which he had marked out for the Senate to pursue.

Mr. Palmer went on to argue the question in detail against the right of governors to ap-point Senators under the circumstances exist-ing in cases in question. The Case of Senator Roach. Apparently the charges against Senator Roach of North Dakota have dropped out of sight lately, but it is probable that they will be stirred up again very soon. Senator Chandler has prepared a resolution which he proposes to introduce at the first opportunity calling upon the Treasury Department for copies of the reports of the Citizens' National Bank and of the examiner who inspected the institution during the period covered by Mr. Roach's in-
